LEWIS COUNTY POLITICS

The Different Democratic Factions-Lively Times Ahead. land of his birth. In truth the Senator was never one of Lewis county's favorite sons. Years ago when he made his first venture into the political fields as a candidate for Prosecuting Attorney he was badly defeated (not elected, as Mr. McGary has it) by Henry Brannon, our present Circuit Judge. Afterwards, when fortune had favored his speculations, his aspirations soared aloft and he sought gubernatorial honors, his native county gave him the cold shoulder to the tune of about 400 adverse majority. His instrumentality in completing the narrow gauge railroad does not seem to have given him a lasting place in the affections of our people when they reflect upon the manner in which he gobbled up $68,000 of the county and town subscription to the aforestid road, and learn that he is realizing 30 his contractive annum has original large. said road, and learn that he is realizing 30 said road, and learn that he is realizing 30 percent per annum on his original investment, they are prone to regard this as a brilliant financial schievement rather than as an act of natural love and affection from a dutiful son.

Since reading the aforesaid interview the spirit moves me to give a fair and impartial account of the Democratic cauldron as it holds in this county, in order to fully explain the situation in this county it will be necessary to go back to the Jacobs and Camden fight in 1872. Then as now the Democratic party here was dominated by five families, the Arnolds, Bennetts, Blands, Brannons and Edmistons. In that fight the Arnolds, Blands and Edmistons pinned their faith to Jacobs, while the Brannons and Bennetts supported Camden. Time, however, has Jacobs, while the Branches and Bennetts supported Camden. Time, however, has wrought many changes, even to the splitting up of some of these families. Judge Edmiston, who was before the Democratic Convention at Parkersburg seeking the nomination for Supreme Judge, and who bolted the ticket and ran as an independent for that office, is still supposed to boited the ticket and ran as an independ-ent for that offlice, is still supposed to nurse his venom sgainst the honorable Senator, while his son Andy, who sup-ported the Jacobs wing in 1872 and who was elected to the Legislature from this counity as a supposed and promised friend of John Brannon's, yielded to the delicate manipulations known to the coal oil riog, and to the disgust and surprise of that gentleman and his friends cast his trembling ballot in favor of Camden, and has ever since been "counted in" with trembling ballot in favor of Camden, and has ever since been "counted in" with that party. Of the Brannons Judge John has become bitterly opposed to the senior Senator, whilst Judge Henry whose har breadth escape from the residence of Col Ben Smith, of Charleston, during the senatorial election of 1871 into the Davis and Camden camp is still supposed to have a lingering affection for that pasture. Jonathan M. Bennett is precident of the Buckhannon branch of the Senator's parrow gnage road, and largely interested in both branches as a stockholder, and who in years past was a law partner of Judge (dideon Draper (langue nass a kind feeling for the Camden family, and sympathizes with the Senator in his light whilst his son W. Bland still nurses his wrath and has added fuel to fire against the Camdens ever gince Dr. T. B. Camden defeated him for the position he new occupies. W. E. Arnold still hates the ring as strongly as Arnold still hates the ring as strongly as he did in days of yore, but his legislature aspirations have rendered him more discreet than he was in 1872. ble chance of election—these are (seorge J. Arnold and Louis Bennett, and neither of them can be persuaded to run. Arnold is a man of great wealth and his business demands his undivided attention. Louis Bennett is the best politician in the Bennett family, and not being identified with either faction, might pull through; but he could not be induced to give up the position of Prosecuting Attorney for the empty honor of a seat in the Legislature, and as neither faction would ever be able to say in advance how he would vote, and as both are determined on a dead sure thing, there will not be very great pressure brought to bear on him to become a candidate.

I think the foregoing is a pretty fair statement of the condition of the Lewis county Democracy, jealousies, heart-burnings and bickerings render it absolutely impossible for them to harmonize upon any candidate. Their majority being but small at best, and a few votes will change the result, you can bet to a dead certainty that the next Representative will be a Republican.

Weston, W. Va., April 23.—The people in our midst were more than amused at a recent cut and dried interview with the Hon. W. B. McGary, of this county, which appeared in a late issue of the Register.

The fact that the honorable gentleman is one of Senator Cauden's appointees, holds the property of the many the resisting of postal clarkon the near same stand out in great cords and are is a small content. one of Senator Camden's appointees, holding the position of postal clerk on the narrow gauge railroad, and at the same time an offensive partisan of the most pronounced type will account for the eagerness with which he seeks to advertise the claims of Mr. Camden for re-election to the U.S. Senate. But truth compels me to say that from the center to the circum-ference of that gentleman's dynasty no other spot can be found in which there is more red hot antigonism to his return to his present position than right here in the candidate was coming, but stood back big hammer. The blacksmith had heard the candidate was coming, but stood back and watched the performance in astonish-ment. After I-outit had gotten in some of his "beat licks," the blacksmith walked over and felt of his powerful arm. Fully satisfied, he walked back to the forge, say-ing: "It's all right: that gets a vote."

John C. Calhonn ones pointed to a drove of mules just from Ohio and said to Corwin: "There go some of your constituents," "Yos," said Tom gravely, "they are going down South to teach school."
